You're invited!

Outdoor Movie Night

Bring the family to a movie under the stars! The Secret Life of Pets will be shown on the big screen on Saturday, Sept. 23 behind the Municipal Center. Attendees are welcome to bring their own furry friends on a leash to enjoy the show. Pet-friendly businesses and local food vendors will be on site. There is no charge for admission and parking. The fun starts at 6:30 p.m. and the movie at 7:30.

A new home for the GCFD

The Goose Creek Fire Department's impressive new 32,000-square-foot Headquarters Station on Button Hall Avenue is open for business! A steady flow of city residents took part in an open house at the facility in August. At a dedication and ribbon-cutting ceremony, Fire Chief Steve Chapman said the station will serve the city and its residents for decades.

2017 Fall Festival

The 2017 edition of the Goose Creek Fall Festival promises to be the best yet! The family-friendly event will be held from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. on Saturday, Oct. 7 at the Municipal Center. Admission is free. The day includes live music, arts and crafts, vendors, great food, games and more. The goal of the festival is raise awareness and donations for Helping Hands of Goose Creek, our local food bank.

Mayor's Report: Stubborn City Councils serve a purpose

Since the City of Goose Creek incorporated in 1961 we have been blessed with stubborn City Councils. City Councilmembers persistently refuse to raise property taxes. In fact, council has raised property taxes only three times in the last 40 years and by only 12 percent since the city incorporated 56 years ago. By comparison, if the marketplace stayed in line with our stubborn City Councils, a gallon of gas would cost merely 30 cents today and a gallon of milk would have risen to merely $1.18.

I appreciate our stubborn City Councils because of their stalwart stance on property taxes, but looming challenges defy their bold stance. Our State government has underfunded and mismanaged the State retirement system for decades and now orders the towns and cities, including the City of Goose Creek, to pay for the mistakes made at the State level. The State of South Carolina has ordered the City of Goose Creek to pay an extra one-half million dollars to help bail out the failing State retirement system. Our State Government does not have the political courage to raise the money statewide, but simply orders Cities and Towns to raise our taxes and send it in. This is wrong, but our stubborn City Council has no choice except to let the truth be known!

Price is right for APWA honor

Congratulations are in order for City of Goose Creek Department of Public Works Director Steve Price.

Steve was named the 2017 Outstanding Public Works Manager of the Year by the South Carolina American Public Works Association.

The APWA's South Carolina chapter held its annual conference in Charleston in July.

Steve is responsible for all aspects of the city's public works services. This includes managing the city's Water, Sanitation, Maintenance, and Garage Divisions; Property Maintenance Code Enforcement; and Public Works Engineering/Geographic Information Systems.

Steve joined the City of Goose Creek team in 1999.

Steve Price (center) accepts his award.

City climbs in S.C. Census

The City of Goose Creek has climbed to 8th in South Carolina in total population. That's according to the latest data from the US Census Bureau, which released its 2016 population estimate earlier this year.

The city's estimated population is 42,039 – a nearly 17 percent increase since 2010. Goose Creek is now ranked between Summerville in seventh (49,323) and Sumter in ninth (40,723).

The top 10 most populous South Carolina cities are: Charleston (134,385), Columbia (134,309), North Charleston (109,298), Mt. Pleasant (84,170), Rock Hill (72,937), Greenville (67,453), Summerville, Goose Creek, Sumter and Hilton Head (40,500).

Out of the top 10 cities, Goose Creek's population has grown faster since 2010 than every city except Mt. Pleasant. The city's last seven annual population estimates are: 36,685 in 2010; 37,864 in 2011; 39,075 in 2012; 39,976 in 2013; 40,692 in 2014; 40,945 in 2015; and 42,039 in 2016.

Rep. Joe Daning (right) presents Goose Creek Finance Director Ron Faretra with a S.C. Statehouse Proclamation at the July City Council meeting.

Thank you, Ron Faretra

Longtime City of Goose Creek Finance Director Ron Faretra retired at the end of July, but not before he was honored by Rep. Joe Daning at the July City Council meeting with a S.C. House of Representatives Proclamation thanking him for his service.

On behalf of City Council, Mayor Heitzler also presented Ron with a City Proclamation commending him for an excellent tenure as finance director.

Ron joined the City of Goose Creek in 1998 after a distinguished career in the U.S. Air Force.

Crime meeting

The Goose Creek Police Department invites the entire community to its next city-wide crime prevention meeting. The session will take place at 6:30 p.m. on Dec. 12 at the GCPD.

Topics include crime trends and statistics within the city, initiatives that affect residents, and more. To sign up, contact Crime Prevention Specialist Kevin Scott at kscott@cityofgoosecreek.com or (843) 863-5200 ext. 2317.

Women's Self Defense

The GCPD's next Women's Self Defense class is at 6 p.m. on Sept. 28 in the Police Training Room.

A second class will take place on Dec. 7 at the same time and place.

Police Academy

The GCPD's Citizen Police Academy begins Sept 19, and will meet each Tuesday through Nov. 7, from 6 to 8 p.m. The eight-week course is designed to give citizens a "behind the scenes" look at the Police Department. The class is not designed to teach citizens how to be police officers, but rather to help them gain a deeper understanding and appreciation of the field of law enforcement.

For more information call (843) 863-5200 or email kscott@cityofgoosecreek.com

Goose Creek Police Chief Harvey Becker addresses a farewell gathering for GCPD Lt. Byron Upchurch, who retired in June.

Lt. Upchurch retires after 27 years

The City of Goose Creek and the extended Goose Creek Police Department family bid a fond farewell to Lt. Byron Upchurch in June, as Lt. Upchurch retired after nearly three decades with the city.

Lt. Upchurch was a familiar and trusted face in the community to a generation of residents. He was the city's first Traffic Unit Sergeant, and served in that unit from 1991 to 2006. His career included service in the U.S. Navy from 1978 to 1986, and four years with the Berkeley County Sheriff's Office from 1986 to 1990. He joined the GCPD in 1990.

Goose Creek Police Chief Harvey Becker called Lt. Upchurch a crucial component of the city's police department over the past 27 years. "We're going to miss you," Chief Becker said.

"You touched many lives, both in the community and in this building," GCPD Major John Grainger said.

In a biography, the GCPD commended Lt. Upchurch for his "many years of service and ... genuine desire to serve the citizens of Goose Creek."

Popular 'House Watch' program brings peace of mind

Are you going to be out of town soon? Let the Goose Creek Police Department lend a helping hand while you're away.

City of Goose Creek residents are invited to visit the Goose Creek Police Department or complete an online application to request that the GCPD watch their house while they are out of town. Police officers will make physical checks of the property on a regular, but random, basis while residents are absent.

Officers will check doors and windows for evidence of break-ins, vandalism or trespassing. Additionally, after the resident returns home, they will receive a letter from Chief Becker informing them of the number of times the house was checked.

Mayor's history lectures set for October and November

Attention history buffs!

Each fall, Mayor Heitzler holds a series of Goose Creek history lectures. The popular, free events are held at 6 p.m. on Thursdays in October and November, with the exception of Thanksgiving.

The rich history of Goose Creek is brought to life in the series.

Mayor Heitzler, who has authored five history books and 14 historical booklets and articles, brings a lifetime of research to his role as Goose Creek's resident historian. His presentations are filled with stories of the men and women who, across the centuries, helped shape a city and region.

Keep up with your city on Twitter!

Ever wonder what all the fuss is about Twitter?

From President Trump to several of your local city councilmembers in Goose Creek – and millions of Americans in between – the online information source has emerged as a fun way to keep up with the news.

The City of Goose Creek started its own Twitter account earlier this year. Every day, the city’s account provides useful information on all aspects of city government. That includes Recreation sports updates, reminders about City Council meetings, Police and Fire updates, and more. Like Facebook, Twitter users can post photos and videos.

To use Twitter, you just need a computer that can access the Internet. Go to Twitter.com to open your own account at no charge. Once there, you can follow as many city governments, politicians, sports teams, or friends and neighbors that you like. Your Twitter feed is filled by those people that you choose to follow.

Most importantly, don't forget to follow @GooseCreekSC – the City of Goose Creek’s Twitter handle.

You don't have to “Tweet” to have an account ... although, as the President can attest, once you start, you may not want to stop.

Following the City of Goose Creek’s Twitter page is a fun way to keep up with all that’s going on in Goose Creek. The city also has an informative Facebook page, and the city’s website, www.CityofGooseCreek.com, includes information about all aspects of your government.

A Fond Farewell

The Goose Creek Fire Department said goodbye to Firefighter/EMT Jim Morrell, who retired in August after 25 years with the GCFD. Fire Chief Steve Chapman and the GCFD thanked Jim for his many years of dependable and outstanding work.

Do you know ...

Daniel Moore

Daniel Moore became the City of Goose Creek's new Assistant City Administrator in May. In his position, he assists with the municipality's day-to-day operations. Daniel came from the City of North Augusta, where he served as Public Services Administrative Coordinator. Do you have questions for Daniel? Reach him at (843) 797-6220, ext. 1112, or email him at DMoore@CityofGooseCreek.com.

Tyler Howanyk

Tyler Howanyk became the City of Goose Creek's Finance Director on Aug. 1, after serving for six months as Assistant Finance Director. Tyler replaced Ron Faretra, who retired in July after 19 years with the city. Do you have questions about Goose Creek's finances or budget? Reach Tyler at (843) 797-6220, ext. 1109, or email him at THowanyk@CityofGooseCreek.com.

Do you use paperless billing?

Goose Creek offers water customers paperless water billing and an automatic debit option. Each month, an email will be sent from waterbill@cityofgoosecreek.com with "City of Goose Creek Utility Bill" as the subject.

Complete the form found under "Online Payments" at www.cityofgoosecreek.com and submit it via email.

As long as the authorization is received no later than the 15th of the month before your billing date, the next bill will be emailed.

Enrolling in a monthly automatic credit/debit card payment option is another easy way for residents to pay their bill. Residents may select the payment authorization to process on the 5th or 15th of each month.

Residents will continue to receive a monthly water bill with the amount that will be debited from a credit/debit card and it will indicate "paid by draft."

If you would like to take advantage of this free program, visit www.cityofgoosecreek.com, print and complete the credit/debit card authorization form and return to Goose Creek City Hall - Water Billing Office. For more information call (843) 797-6220.

Join the team! City jobs updated online

Are you looking for a job?

The City of Goose Creek posts updated, detailed job listings across all City departments online at www.cityofgoosecreek.com.

Human Resources Director Joellyn Robbins encourages residents to sign up for the City's Job Alert online. "Our jobs are posted as they come open," she said. "If you sign up for the Job Alert, you will receive an email when a job comes open. The city has a generous benefits package and competitive salaries."

To sign up for job notifications, click the Notify Me box on the front page of the City website, www.cityofgoosecreek.com. From there, users can choose to be notified about job openings, as well as other categories.

Young Goose Creek gymnasts make national waves

Amiyah Haynes and Chloe Carr, both 8 years old, have had a busy summer.

Both girls are enrolled in City of Goose Creek Gymnastics, and both scored in the top 100 in the nation in recent competition.

Amiyah and Chloe participate in USA Gymnastics' Talent Opportunity Program (TOPs), which identifies the nation's best young gymnasts.

This summer, Amiyah and Chloe attended two statewide testing sites. In order to advance to the National Qualifier, they each had to score high enough to place in the top 100 nationally in their age group – and did just that.

Both placed in the top 100, and will attend the TOPs National Qualifier to be held in Hunstville, TX, in October at the U.S. Olympic/USA Gymnastics National Team Training Center. A Top 50 finish there would earn a trip back to the National Training Center for camps and clinic opportunities throughout the 2017-2018 competition season.

"This is a huge accomplishment and will be a great experience for them," City of Goose Creek Gymnastics Coach Stacey Croston said.

The TOPs program is under the direction of the National Pre-Elite Committee, with assistance from the National Coaching Staff and the National Team Coordinator with USA Gymnastics. To learn more about the City of Goose Creek Gymnastics program, call Coach Croston at (843) 572-1321 ext. 1.

McCants' lifetime of public service honored

This summer saw the City of Goose Creek mourn the loss of a public servant who touched many lives.

John McCants, whose quiet, steady leadership played an integral role on Goose Creek City Council for 24 years, died on Friday, June 9. He was 83 years old.

Mr. McCants' 1992 election to City Council began a quarter-century of service that helped guide the city through a period of unprecedented growth. He gave up his seat in 2016 after completing a sixth full term.

"John McCants was my friend and colleague for almost 30 years," Goose Creek Mayor Michael Heitzler said. "He was a family man first, and a forthright citizen next. He will be missed by every neighborhood and communal organization for his kind and gentle approach to life and service."

A retired U.S. Army Sergeant, Mr. McCants moved to Goose Creek in 1973, and was a resident of the Foxborough subdivision. After working as a grant writer for Charleston County, his post-military career included time as building inspector for the City of Goose Creek.
